MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

At the solicitation of the Building and Executive Committee of the Nashville University, and of many other citizens, I would most respectfully request that on the 7th inst., between the hours of 9, A. M. and 8, P. M., during the performance of the ceremonies of the laying of the Corner Stone of the New University Building—there should be a general suspension of business on the part of citizens, so that all who may de sire, can participate, and thereby manifest the deep interest feit in the success and perpetuity of this time honored lesti-tutioe. JOHN HUGH SMITH, April 2, 1858.

FOR THE NASHVILLE UNRON. TO THE DEMOCRATS OF THE SEVENTH CON. GRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

Gentlemen: -The undersigned, committee of correspon dence, appointed by the county meeting of the democracy of Hickman county, on the 7th of March, in conformance to the resolution of said meeting, requiring them to correspond with the different counties composing this Congressional district, adopt this method of laying the subject that is hereinafter spoken of, before the party in the various coun-

We are all aware that as important canvass is about to open before us; and we are equally aware of the vast importance of our party being fully armed and ready for the onslaught; unless we can be harmonious in our manœuvres we can never hope to conquer; unless we keep a steady and unwavering pathway, free from all dissensions and scisms, we are undone. We may obtain a momentary advantage, owing to the distraction of our foes; but victory will never perch long where it is not nourished by the balmy influence of harmony.

Democracy has it in its power to conquer. No foe can stand against it and oppose it with success long. If it does not nurse and nourish the vampire of itself. Its influenceits progressive influence—is too benign to be successfully opposed. This has been too often tried to be disputed. We have battled whiggery long, and what has been the result? A triumphant victory has just gilded our banner, a new administration has just taken the helm of our government to guide it still farther on the road to prosperity. Out of thirty-one stars, only four have felt the misty gloom of whiggery to blacken their oriency. And how has this been done? Let the whole Union respond. 'Tis attributable not only to the great and salutary principles of the party, but also to a universal unity of feeling and sentiment that so brilliantly characterized the party in the last contest. Brilliant as was that achievement to the democratic party, as important as it was to the vital interest of the country, the democracy of Tennessee have no right to boast of it. Although they had every advantage, although they had a candidate pure and patriotic, they shamefully left the field in the hands of, and to be exulted over, by the whig party. And why was this? Was it because the great principles that we all love and reverence were becoming state? Was it because the precepts of Jefferson, of Jackson, and of Polk had been forgot It was not this, neither was it the potency of whiggery, it was the inertia of the party alone, its greatest enemy was its own indolence. Then say, fellow democrats, are you willing that another victory shall be lost by default? Will you set idle and see the cause crowned with laurels of praise and success in your sister States and not make an effort to cleanse your own? Will you still suffer from the pains of discord, when it is so easy to prevent it? What has been the result of these discordant feelings in Tennessee; they have given us for the last legislature, a large whig majority, which give the whigs a Senator and four Representatives, to one in Congress. They have so organized the State that the democrats may carry it by a large popular majority, and still the whigs can have a large majority in the Legislature; in organizing the Senatorial districts, if the counties all vote as they did two years ago, the whigs will have double as large a majority. The whig motto has been "delenda est Carthago," and it is quite time that we were retaliating. The country demands it, and it must be obeyed. Will you not gentlemen then come up to the contest and make a desperate effort to brighten the name of Tennessee with democracy and democratic rule, which will only be a lullaby to still all adversity? It can easily be done. Only be willing to sacrifice your own predilection for the general good of the party, this is the autidote that will save us from disaster, this is the panacea

It is needless to be said that there are more aspirants for Congress than can be accommodated in the seventh Congressional district, and doubtless with some of them the high appreciation they entertain of their own merits, have led them to be anxious about it, more so, perhaps, than the party to whom they look to for support, is inclined to evince. It then behooves us to find some way to reconcile these, to keep the party from going to ruln. How can this be done? We will suggest a plan, and will ask, gentlemen, your concurrence in it, or a better one if you have any. The only way to keep a party in a healthy condition, is to have only one leader at a time, and to have him the right sort of a man. He ought to be the man that the democrats can the better unite on. Then, how shall we find out which man he is? Why, the answer is easy! Just let all submit their claims to a convention, organized and constructed so as to express the true will and wish of the party. A convention then is necessary to give us harmony, and harmony to give us success. Will you meet us gentlemen? The good demo crats of Hickman are anxious to wash off the shame of the last Presidential election, by distancing you all, (as she gen erally does) in being true to her past and true to her princi-that will ensure us a triumph.

The great objection that has always been to the Convention system is, that there is too much fraud used in themthat they were only hobbies for the demagogizing spirits to ride into distinction, and in proposing this Convention, we do it with a view of having a fair expression of the will of the party, we disclaim any attempt of any aspirant for Congressional honors to force himself upon the party by fraud: we are a party of justice, and want every act of the party to be tinctured with the same; we ask all aspirants to keep hands off and let the sovereigns of the party say who of them is their choice. We will support no man who prefers his own interest to that of the party; we would fear that when his interest dictated he would betray the interest of the par-

But we have good democrats in our party, and good aspirants too. We make no complaint, we only wish it understood that we are for a Convention, and a fair one too, that will reflect the will of the people, for we will not support a man that forces himself upon us by a mock Convention. A fraud is odious enough at best, but when it is wrapt up in a palliament of justice, the odium increases ten-fold. In conclusion, gentlemen, we invite you cordially to meet us in Convention at some place convenient to all, (we suggest Waynesboro')-and then and there select a good democrat to run on our ticket for Congress. That all the district may have time to prepare for it, we would suggest the 2nd Monday in May, as being the most appropriate time. But we will receive any suggestion from any other county or counties. All that we ask gentleman, is that you meet us and help us reconcile all the dissensions that may occur, so that a ray of victory may again illuminate the democratic church, and burying forever in the vortex of forgettulness the misrule of whigism S. B. MOORE, P. WALKER, Committee. JACK WILLIAMS.

IMPORTANT ARREST OF A MAIL ROBBER.—Some ten dayssince Hutchins & Co., of Louisville, (Ky.,) mailed to W. B. Shapard & Co., of this city, a package containing $4,000 in Bank notes, which were stamped with their private mark, and advised the firm in this city by telegraph of the fact. The mail failed to bring the package, of which mishap Hutchins & Co. were immediately informed. An examination into the matter, at the Louisville Post Office, suggested the suspicion that the package had been stolen by the U.S. Mail Agent, Col Levy, who had left Louisville for this city. Mr. Hutchins followed him hither, and ascertained that he had departed, after transacting some business here, saying that he was going to Dresden, in this State. Mr. Hutchins, suspecting he had gone in another direction, took the cars and overhauled him at Atlanta, Ga., where he was nassing under an assumed name, He was arrested as soon as possible, and most of the money recovered, Levy was brought to this city yesterday in proper custody, and placed on the Statesman which left last evening for Louisville.— He has heretofore borne a good character, and has been a public officer for some years.-Nashville Banner, 5th.

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1853.

No PAPER To-MORROW .- In order to evince proper interest in the ceremony of laving the corner stone of the University to-day, the different publishers of the city have agreed to issue no paper tomorrow. We hope our friends will excuse us under the circumstances, for the non-appearance of the Union in the morning.

THE UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS-LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE.

To-day, our city and county readers will bear in mind, the corner stone of the new buildings for the Nashville University is to be laid with Masonic ceremonies. A programme of the proceedings will be found in another part of to-day's Union. We believe it is generally understood among our citizens that there will be a cessation of all kinds of business between the hours of 9 and 3 o'clock. The occasion is one of much importance to the future prosperity of the city, and should be observed in a liberal and enlightened manner. Our merchants, our mechanics, in fact every man whose interests are identified with the prosperity of Nashville, should manifest a lively concern in the ceremonies of today. Let this new era in the history of the University open under the influence of a new and moreliberal spirit than has characterised the past. Let us all feel and act upon the fact that a University is an element of municipal wealth and prosperity, and that our best interests are identified with its encouragement. If this spirit is manifested now, in a few years we will have a flourishing institution in our midst, to which young men from all parts of the South will come annually, adding thousands of dollars to the profits of our business men, and increasing generally the prosperity of Nashville.

Let there be a general turn out. The ceremonies will, of themselves, be highly interesting, and we know that the address of the orator of the day will be a literary treat.

The Municipal election in Louisville, on Saturday, resulted in the re-election of James S. Speed, the present Mayor. Many democrats did not consider this election justified by the charter, and doubtless refrained from voting. The Journal says that Mr. Speen does not consider his present term to expire until next year, when, in his opinion, another election for Mayor will have to take place, He declines taking the benefit of his late re-

The vote was also taken on the question of grantng license for retailing ardent spirits, and on the proposition for erecting water works. The former was carried and the latter voted down.

The Albany (N. Y.) Journal says: "A De-United States Marshal of this State, in company with a Special Agent of the Post Office Department from Indiana, has brought to this city a young man, arrested on a warrant from Commissioner Hilton, of this city, for alleged robbery of the mails in the Post Office at Louisville, Kentucky, where he was engaged as clerk. He is a son of a very respectable citizen of New Berlin, Chenango county, where he was arrested. He is now held as a fugitive from justice, until the proper papers can be obtained from Judge Hall. He has twice before been arrested on the same charge, but it could not be made to stick."

The great Painting is about to be removed from among us. It will be exhibited positively only two more days. Those of our citizens who have not seen it should embrace this last opportunity.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK RERALD. THE POLITICIANS AT WASHINGTON,

The Letter of Mesers. Phelps and Lamb to Colonel Benton. Washington, March 29, 1853.-I send you by mail a letter written by Messrs. Phelps and Lamb, two Benton democrats, elected to the next Congress, and putting certain queries to Col. Benton, in reply to an invitation, by that gentleman to meet him in consultation. It recites a portion of his late speech in Missouri, and the resolutions of his friends recently adopted. The writers beg to know whether he has arrayed himself against all democratic usages, organizations, platforms, &c. To this letter Col. Benton makes no reply, but sends it off to be printed. A complete breach has thus been made between him and Phelps and Lamb, and the controversy is therefore important, as it destroys all chance of the Colonel's election to the Senate-parties being so evenly balanced in Missouri that this breach in his friends is conclusive. Benton will now be in fine running order for the disaffected.

A FUGITIAE SLAVE CASE—EXCITEMENT ON THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD. -On Saturday last a young lad, 17 years of age, came to a well known abolitionist in this village, and informed him that he was a runaway slave, and desired his assistance to enable him to escape the clutches of his inhuman master, who was in search of him. The friend of the slave convened a council of congenial spirits-and a secret session was directly agreed upon. The first thing in order was the story of the persecuted ugitive, which was to the following effect: He was born in New Jersey, but at the age of four he accompanied his parents to New York on a visit, and was there kidnapped and taken to Georgia, where he had remained till a short time since, when he came north with his master. His master, he said, brought him to this place some time last week, but lodged him in jail for safe keeping, till that morning, when he had taken him out, as he was going to return home. The lad, thinking this would be the last chance to escape from his cruel master, improved the opportunity, and his lucky star had diected him into the midst of friends.

After deliberation, it was concluded that the negro should be secreted until Monday morning, and, in the mean time, the machinery of the Underground Railroad was to be rubbed up. That night the fugitive was concealed in a closet, and sentinels were appointed to prevent surprise. The next day was a busy one among the Abolitionists. All in whom implicit confidence could be placed were allowed to visit the persecuted victim in his secluded

We must change the scene. A matter-of-fact gentleman, carried on a shingle factory in the Lower Village, has had a smart negro lad to work for him for some time back, and, on Saturday last, when the aforementioned gentleman was absent from his | as President, and the Territory of Colima for Gen. shop, a person called and left a few dollars in money | Uraga. with the negro, to be given to him on his return. The young scamp, instead of waiting for his employer to return, immediately absconded with the money, and was pretty sharply pursued by his late employer from place to place, but finally got out of the way.

Among the individuals who it was thought might be admitted to the presence of the fugitive was the gentleman named above. About 4 o'clock, Sunday, he wended his way to the rendezvous; but what was his surprise, and that of all Abolitiondom, when in the runaway slave he recognised the lad who worked for him and who had absconded with the money. The feelings of the Good Samaritans may be better | article of the treaty. imagined than described. Each individual man engaged in this scheme went home with wiser thoughts than when that morning's sun dawned up-

Thus ended the first fugitive slave rescue case that has come to the ears of the public under the new law, in this village,-Lockport Courier, 17th.

OLE BULL'S CONCERT.

Our citizens will have it in their power to witness to-night the wonderful and incomparable powers of OLE BULL over cat-gut. It is not necessary that we should urge them to make good use of the opportunity. OLE BULL will, in all probability, never again visit Nashville, and certainly not in a professional capacity. Now is the time to see him, and laugh and weep at his melody. OLE BULL's object in giving these concerts is very laudable and philanthropic. Their entire proceeds are to be devoted to the cause of education and morality in the colony which his enterprise and humanity have founded in Pennsylvania. Wherever he has been he has received the most liberal encouragement in this praiseworthy undertaking. We cannot doubt that in Nashville, too, his philanthropic feelings will be responded to in a generous manner. Of one thing our people may be satisfied. The money they may give, through him, to the cause of education, will be expended here, and not exported

The New Orleans Delta, in a very able criticism on OLE BULL's Concert in New Orleans, thus notices

The Concert was opened by STRAKOSCH with a fantasia from Lucia, of which the execution was marked by the extreme agility, neatness, expression and taste which distinguish this delightful pianist. Soon after leaving the stage, STRAKOSCH reappeared leading by the hand a little girl of almost infantile years and form, with a dark, but expressive physiognomy, and a pair of very animated black eyes. This was ADELINE PATTI, and the moment she uttered a note, the audience were satisfied that her vocal capabilities had not been exaggerated. Imagine a child nine years of age, warbling the intricate, florid and ornamental music of one of Donizetti's most difficult cavatinas-and executing it not merely with tame correctness, but with a precision a power, a richness of sound, a boundless flexibility, and a degree of spirit and soul not unworthy of the most finished and renowned prin a donna. This child is indeed wonderfully gifted. Her voice is a pure soprano, of delicious quality, true, rich, equal, firm, of vast compass, and apparently under perfect control. Nothing can be more exquisite than this instrument-art alone is needed to render it absolutely unsurpassed, and when age shall have deepened its volume and augmented its sonority, its essessor will be endowed with the most glorious voice that Gop ever gave to woman. * Of OLE BULL we can say little that would not seem less than his just meed. Since we last heard him, he appears to have attained even a greater mastery than before over his violin. Difficulties are his delight-and those prodigious obstacles which baffle the fingers of the most celebrated performers, are to him mere holiday sport and diversion. Under his nimble and plastic execution, the violin is made an universal instrument. He provokes from its chords sounds such as no previous calculation could have anticipated from them. His performa ice in sparkling brilliancy, in capricious melody, in broad and majestic harmony, in never ending mutations of sound, in wild originality of conception and in absolute perfection of mechanical skill, are probably unequalled. Nothing, for instance, can be more stopendons than the Witches' Dance-with its double harmonies, its imitation of half a dozen instruments, its trills, its singular cadences, its profusion of complex ornament; as a piece of execution it is positively marvellous—as a composition, it disappointed us. * * *

As this is the last time OLE BULL will ever visit Nashville as a performer, we trust he will favor us with more than one concert before he leaves.

[FROM THE N. O. PICAYUNE, 29TH ULT.] LATER FROM MEXICO.

By the schooner Edward Bernard we have received full files of papers from Vera Cruz to the 19th, and from the city of Mexico to the 15th inst. The news contained in them is of little interest.

With the exception of Vera Cruz, there seems to be little feeling produced in Mexico by the publieation of Senor Escobar's report of his interview with Santa Anna. Several of the papers published extracts from it after having had it some days, but without editorial remarks of any kind.

In an article on the government of Gen. Lombardini, the Siglo, of the 15th inst., has the following: "In fact, as yet no one can tell the final result of the revolution. Everything depends on the course of the Government of Santa Anna, and until this is known we cannot know if domestic peace will be consolidated, or if anarchy will be prolonged until the country is consumed."

The lady of Gen. Lombardini was seriously ill, and he had left the palace and dispatched business in his own house, in order to be near her. Some difficulty having occurred in the formation of a Cabinet, Gen. Lombardini determined to carry on the Government through the clerks of the departments, during the short interval that would intervene until the return of Santa Anna, Gen. Uraga had been appointed Minister to Spain. It was said the Government had given him the Cross of Augostura. It was announced that Senor Robles had resigned the command of his division. Much ill-feeling existed between the Uraga and the Robles divisions of the army, and it was said that as soon as the vote for President was counted, which was to be on the 17th inst., the former would be sent to Guadalajara and the latter to Guana-

The Monitor says that the cost of the army is now $480,000 monthly, being nearly the entire revenue The levies still go on, Gen Lombardini having ordered the formation of four new corps. Much complaint existed in regard to the manner of pressing recruits, and the President had ordered those who had been taken by force to be lib-

The agents of Mr. Sloo had paid into the treasury the sum of $50,000, being the monthly payment of March under the contract. Messrs. Mora and Gonzalez, commissioners on the part of the Government to make delivery of the line to the Mixed Company, had left Vera Cruz for Minatitlan. Senor Bonifacio Gutierrez, the agent of the company had passed through Oajaca on his way to Tehuantepec. He had been very well received in Oajaca.

Bishop Timon, of Buffalo, was in the city of Mexico and would preach there. He had been at Morelos, where he confirmed many persons. The sum of $500 was collected for him by the congregation, and $1,200 by the ayuntamiento.

Much feeling was excited in Mexico against Mr. Falconnet, the banker, in consequence of the publication by the London papers of a letter from him to the Mexican landholders stating that in obtaining the exportation free of duty of the $2,500,000 last paid, it had cost $60,000 in bribes to the members of Congress. The Universal says the Government thought of giving him his passport.

The State of Yucatan has voted for Santa Anna Gen. Lombardini ordered the return of the escort which accompanied Gen. Arista to his estate, and the Universal says had sent him his passport to leave the country. It was said that Santa Anna's first act on his return to Mexico would be the laying of the first

The Permanent Commission of Chihuabua had published a decree on the 16th of February, declaring the country in danger, and granting to the Governor legislative power.

The State authorities of Vera Cruz had ordered a public reception for Santa Anna, who was expected about the last of March. Great complaints were made because the Sureme Government demanded the payment of the WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE MARKET.

NASHVILLE, April 7, 1853. The weather during the week has been for the most part warm and dry, though we had on Sunday and Monday quite a heavy fall of rain. Since then the clouds have disappeared and indications point to clear weather. The river, which had receded to quite a low stage, commenced rising again on Monday, and there is now an abundance of water for the largest class boats. Business has maintained its usual activity, without exhibiting any new or remarkable phases.

Corrox-Since our last weekly review, favorable news from Europe by the Niagara has been received, and the prices with which we closed have been fully and firmly maintained, and a slight advance on the best quality would result, we presume, if the cotton was to be bought. But most of those who have cotton to sell are busy at this time at home, and the receipts of the week, as well as the sales, have been consequently very small. The returns from the incoming crop report a continual falling off in the receipts, they being put down at 389,000 by the New Orleans Price Current of the 1st inst; and this, together with the news from Europe must be construed by holders into very strong indications that present prices must be fully sustained during the balance of the season, if indeed, an advance is not speedily realized. As we remarked, the trade has been limited here during the week owing to the absence of sellers. Prices on the whole have remained unchanged though we believe, in some instances, as high as 314 has been paid for good middling .-This description is so scarce, however, that the price is nearly cominal. Yesterday the market improved somewhat, and about 150 bales sold at 61/a01/4. The following classification may be considered a fair index of the condition of the market, though perhaps the highest figure may be considered 1/4 too high-91/4 having been paid only in one or two instances for an unusually fair article :
